THE above are First Class, justly popular, and prompt paying companies. They invite investigation into their condition and solicit business entirely upon their real merits. In point of solvency and reliability and honorable dealing, they have but few equals, and no superiors. They are founded upon the very best securities in the world—first class bonds and mortgages upon property in New York and Brooklyn—securities that have not, for the past ten years, depreciated below par, and are every way more reliable and permanent than railroad, bank, and other stocks, which are subject to the fluctuations of the market, and liable, in times of panic, as the experience of the past teaches, to become almost, if not entirely, valueless. And while there are Companies entering the field of competition, well calculated to mislead by publishing partial and one-sided statements of their condition, and without a cash surplus on hand sufficient to reinsure their outstanding risks, the above named companies always have and keep over and above their capital twice the amount, and in most instances four times, needed for the reinsurance of all their risks. With such a foundation, and with such a condition, they claim the right to look with confidence to the public for liberal patronage.
Policies issued without delay, and farms risks for a series of years taken at less rates than can be done by Mutual Companies, and a certainty given instead of an uncertainty. All losses promptly adjusted and paid.

DAILY GAZETTE.

Report of the Covode Investigating Committee.

Mr. Train has made a report from the Covode committee, signed by Messrs. Covode, Olin and Train. It sets out by speaking of the embarrassments which attended their labors and stating that the President saw fit to send in a column protest in the way of a proclamation to the world that the whole power of the executive, instead of being exercised to forward an investigation into administration affairs, would be exercised to protect those who might choose to disobey the summons of the speaker of the house, or who, having obeyed the summons, might refuse to testify before the committee; who quote precedents to show that they have felt at liberty to investigate the conduct of the President, or any other officer of the government. In regard to the Lecompton constitution, they say the country will pause with astonishment over the shameless record. They examined: First—The emphatic and indubitable pledges of the President, as well before as after his election, and the pledges of all his cabinet, to the doctrine of leaving the people of Kansas perfectly free to administer their institutions in their own way. Second—The deliberate violation of these pledges, and the attempt to convert Kansas into a slave state by means of forgeries, fraud and force. Third—The removal and attempt to disgrace the sworn agents of the administration who refused to violate their pledges. Fourth—The open employment of money in the passage of the Lecompton and English bills through congress. Fifth—The admission of parties engaged in the work of electioneering this scheme that they received enormous sums for this purpose. Sixth—He offered to purchase newspaper editors with extravagant sums of money. Seventh—And even the proscription of democrats of high standing who would not support the Lecompton and English bills.

The witnesses on these points were Gov. Walker, Wendell, Bean and F. W. Walker, and fortunately for the cause of truth, the evidence of these witnesses does not, the committee say, depend on their own admissions. It is proven by the book of records of the Bank of the Metropolis, which contains the names of those who conduct their business there, and by the unconscious contradictions of the witnesses. The testimony of Forney is not to be overlooked in this connection; while it shows a general willingness on the part of the President to subsidize the public press, it proves also that there was a strong determination to buy all who could be bought, and to crush out the honest men who could not be bribed or reduced to an affiliation with the administration in its Lecompton policy.

Forney was offered the printing of the post office blanks, worth at least $80,000, on condition that he should, by an editorial no longer than a man's hand, support the administration in its Kansas policy.

The committee refer to the fact that twenty-four democratic members of the house opposed the Kansas policy. This number dwindled down to twelve, and enough were found to carry the bill through the house.

The committee say it had always been supposed the war in Washington territory was gotten up for the purpose of fastening slavery on Kansas, the troops being diverted to operations in Kansas.

The next point examined involved the abuses in the Philadelphia custom house and other public offices, in regard to which the committee say there were improper combinations among federal officers to control the prejudices and sentiments of the people in their primary political movements. Second—The improper and corrupt use of the public money in the employment of persons in the public service in violation of the laws and government regulations; and the frauds on the part of officers of the government to defeat the statute of the United States enacted for the purpose of protecting the treasury from unjust claims, and improvident and unnecessary expenditures.—The witnesses are John H. Bryant, Francis and Samuel B. Rice, Francis McCormick, John F. Schell, Andrew Brumaker, George Downey, Patrick Rofferty and John Dunn, and others. The committee say that Collector Baker is subject to the highest censure.

The want of time to procure the necessary witnesses prevented investigation into the management of the post office department.

They examined the subject of the executive binding, saying Pettibone was wronged in the matter, and the patronage remained in the hands of the president's friend and most efficient supporter, Wendell.

The committee say the evidence proves beyond a doubt that the prices paid for executive printing and binding were utterly disproportionate to the work done.

The committee also allude to the employment of men to carry elections.

In view of the facts and circumstances attending this investigation, from its inception to the present time, there seems a marked propriety in closing the report with a quotation from a speech of Mr. Buchanan in condemnation of corruption.

Mr. Train moved that 50,000 copies of the report be printed. Referred to the committee on printing.

SATANIC.—Last Friday morning, a man residing at Bellyille, was arrested and brought before Justice Savage, of this place, upon a charge of having been seen on the night previous, about 11 o'clock, laying obstructions across the track of the Chicago and Northwestern Railway, which would, in all probability, have resulted in great loss of life, as the obstructions, being spars of ironwood, some six or seven inches in diameter, would inevitably have thrown the cars off the road, when the train came along about 3 o'clock A. M. From the evidence given before the justice, sufficient was adduced to warrant the accused in being bound over in the sum of $500, to answer the charge before the grand jury, at the next September term of the circuit court.—Jeffersonian.

THE MUSIC OF THE LOCUSTS.—The "seventeen year locusts," as they are called, just now are very numerous in some places in this vicinity, and make melody in every grove and tree in the localities where they have visited. The writer has heard them for several days past, on the banks of the Hudson, but thus far there is no appearance of damage to vegetation, and we suspect they will prove perfectly harmless.—N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

Last week's Rural New Yorker, than which no better authority can be quoted, inclines to believe that the wheat crop of western New York, or at least that portion sown early, on good properly prepared soil, will this year escape the midge, and produce abundantly.

Important Discoveries and New Arrangements!

THE subscriber has discovered upon his premises a splendid QUARRY OF FREESTONE,
which promises to surpass anything yet found in the state, as well as add to the many already developed resources of our city,
A Beautiful, Cheap and Durable Building Material,
He has made arrangements to work this, together with the justly celebrated Monterey Lime Stone Quarry, on a scale equal to the demands of our enterprising citizens, and in order to accommodate his numerous customers, he has made arrangements to keep constantly on hand a large supply of
ATHENS MARBLE
(or Chicago stone.) He is now fitting up extensive saw and securing mills, and other machinery, necessary for working the same, at a great reduction from former prices.
He also wishes to call attention to the fact that sound cutting or dimension stone can only be found at great distances from the surface, and that the Monterey Quarry is the only one in this county that has been worked far enough to reach those formations that are imperishable when exposed to the action of air and frost.
He is also supplying his Quarry with Derricks to facilitate the handling and loading large stone, and is fitting up expensive wagons, carts and trucks, rigged with the most approved appliances for moving and delivering dimension stone of any size, from two to thirty feet square, and from six to twenty inches thick, or any required length up to one hundred feet, to any part of the city or on board of the cars.
He is prepared to furnish Cut Stone of every description,
PLAIN, MOULDED, CARVED OR POLISHED FLAGGING
of any required dimension.
Curbing, Paving, Ruble and Coursing stone of the best quality in the state, all of which will be delivered at his Quarries or any part of the city to suit purchasers.
In conclusion, he begs to assure the public that from the superior quality of his materials, and facilities for furnishing, he can and will make it to their interests to patronize the Monterey Quarries.
All Orders from the city or country will be promptly attended to.

THE above are First Class, justly popular, and prompt paying companies. They invite investigation into their condition and solicit business entirely upon their real merits. In point of solvency and reliability and honorable dealing, they have but few equals, and no superiors. They are founded upon the very best securities in the world—first class bonds and mortgages upon property in New York and Brooklyn—securities that have not, for the past ten years, depreciated below par, and are every way more reliable and permanent than railroad, bank, and other stocks, which are subject to the fluctuations of the market, and liable, in times of panic, as the experience of the past teaches, to become almost, if not entirely, valueless. And while there are Companies entering the field of competition, well calculated to mislead by publishing partial and one-sided statements of their condition, and without a cash surplus on hand sufficient to reinsure their outstanding risks, the above named companies always have and keep over and above their capital twice the amount, and in most instances four times, needed for the reinsurance of all their risks. With such a foundation, and with such a condition, they claim the right to look with confidence to the public for liberal patronage.
Policies issued without delay, and farms risks for a series of years taken at less rates than can be done by Mutual Companies, and a certainty given instead of an uncertainty. All losses promptly adjusted and paid.

New York Life Insurance Company,

DAILY GAZETTE.

Report of the Covode Investigating Committee.

Mr. Train has made a report from the Covode committee, signed by Messrs. Covode, Olin and Train. It sets out by speaking of the embarrassments which attended their labors and stating that the President saw fit to send in a column protest in the way of a proclamation to the world that the whole power of the executive, instead of being exercised to forward an investigation into administration affairs, would be exercised to protect those who might choose to disobey the summons of the speaker of the house, or who, having obeyed the summons, might refuse to testify before the committee; who quote precedents to show that they have felt at liberty to investigate the conduct of the President, or any other officer of the government. In regard to the Lecompton constitution, they say the country will pause with astonishment over the shameless record. They examined: First—The emphatic and indubitable pledges of the President, as well before as after his election, and the pledges of all his cabinet, to the doctrine of leaving the people of Kansas perfectly free to administer their institutions in their own way. Second—The deliberate violation of these pledges, and the attempt to convert Kansas into a slave state by means of forgeries, fraud and force. Third—The removal and attempt to disgrace the sworn agents of the administration who refused to violate their pledges. Fourth—The open employment of money in the passage of the Lecompton and English bills through congress. Fifth—The admission of parties engaged in the work of electioneering this scheme that they received enormous sums for this purpose. Sixth—He offered to purchase newspaper editors with extravagant sums of money. Seventh—And even the proscription of democrats of high standing who would not support the Lecompton and English bills.

The witnesses on these points were Gov. Walker, Wendell, Bean and F. W. Walker, and fortunately for the cause of truth, the evidence of these witnesses does not, the committee say, depend on their own admissions. It is proven by the book of records of the Bank of the Metropolis, which contains the names of those who conduct their business there, and by the unconscious contradictions of the witnesses. The testimony of Forney is not to be overlooked in this connection; while it shows a general willingness on the part of the President to subsidize the public press, it proves also that there was a strong determination to buy all who could be bought, and to crush out the honest men who could not be bribed or reduced to an affiliation with the administration in its Lecompton policy.

Forney was offered the printing of the post office blanks, worth at least $80,000, on condition that he should, by an editorial no longer than a man's hand, support the administration in its Kansas policy.

The committee refer to the fact that twenty-four democratic members of the house opposed the Kansas policy. This number dwindled down to twelve, and enough were found to carry the bill through the house.

The committee say it had always been supposed the war in Washington territory was gotten up for the purpose of fastening slavery on Kansas, the troops being diverted to operations in Kansas.

The next point examined involved the abuses in the Philadelphia custom house and other public offices, in regard to which the committee say there were improper combinations among federal officers to control the prejudices and sentiments of the people in their primary political movements. Second—The improper and corrupt use of the public money in the employment of persons in the public service in violation of the laws and government regulations; and the frauds on the part of officers of the government to defeat the statute of the United States enacted for the purpose of protecting the treasury from unjust claims, and improvident and unnecessary expenditures.—The witnesses are John H. Bryant, Francis and Samuel B. Rice, Francis McCormick, John F. Schell, Andrew Brumaker, George Downey, Patrick Rafferty and John Dunn, and others. The committee say that Collector Baker is subject to the highest censure.

The want of time to procure the necessary witnesses prevented investigation into the management of the post office department.

They examined the subject of the executive binding, saying Pettibone was wronged in the matter, and the patronage remained in the hands of the president's friend and most efficient supporter, Wendell.

The committee say the evidence proves beyond a doubt that the prices paid for executive printing and binding were utterly disproportionate to the work done.

The committee also allude to the employment of men to carry elections.

In view of the facts and circumstances attending this investigation, from its inception to the present time, there seems a marked propriety in closing the report with a quotation from a speech of Mr. Buchanan in condemnation of corruption.

Mr. Train moved that 50,000 copies of the report be printed. Referred to the committee on printing.

SATANIC.—Last Friday morning, a man residing at Bellville, was arrested and brought before Justice Savage, of this place, upon a charge of having been seen on the night previous, about 11 o'clock, laying obstructions across the track of the Chicago and Northwestern Railway, which would, in all probability, have resulted in great loss of life, as the obstructions, being spars of ironwood, some six or seven inches in diameter, would inevitably have thrown the cars off the road, when the train came along about 3 o'clock A. M. From the evidence given before the justice, sufficient was adduced to warrant the accused in being bound over in the sum of $500, to answer the charge before the grand jury, at the next September term of the circuit court.—Jeffersonian.

THE MUSIC OF THE LOCUSTS.—The "seventeen year locusts," as they are called, just now are very numerous in some places in this vicinity, and make melody in every grove and tree in the localities where they have visited. The writer has heard them for several days past, on the banks of the Hudson, but thus far there is no appearance of damage to vegetation, and we suspect they will prove perfectly harmless.—N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

Last week's Rural New Yorker, than which no better authority can be quoted, inclines to believe that the wheat crop of western New York, or at least that portion sown early, on good properly prepared soil, will this year escape the midge, and produce abundantly.

The "irrepressible conflict" goes on in the democratic convention according to the programme. There are all sorts of rumors afloat. It is reported that New York is not as strong for Douglas as she was, and that the New Hampshire delegates are shaky, thinking that possibly "poor Pierce" might be nominated. The Douglas men, some of them, propose to nominate their favorite by a resolution of the convention, which would require only a majority. In all their speeches they talk wholly about Douglas, but not a word about democracy. We get none of the proceedings of to-day, and the doings of last night are not finished. We should have been glad to have seen a reply to Mr. Montgomery's last remark, which we think must have been considered personal by the seceders.

MONEY ABUNDANT.—The Chicago Tribune says:—The demand for money has decreased immensely. As compared with years gone by borrowers are few and their wants by no means pressing. Within the last two years debts to the amount of millions of dollars have been liquidated in this city alone. Beginning with a few thousand dollars among the smaller firms, they swell to tens and hundreds of thousands among many of the heavier dealers. The same general remarks will apply to nearly every portion of the west. Hence the ease which has characterized the money market of the Atlantic cities for many months begins to be felt at the west. Should the in-coming crop equal present expectations, and fair prices be realized, substantial borrowers will be able to dictate almost their own terms to lenders.

FROM CALIFORNIA.—The overland mail brings news to May 28th. The pony express has been suspended on account of Indian depredations in Carson Valley. There were 1560 Indians remaining in the vicinity of Pyramid Lake, and six hundred hunters under Col. J. C. Hays, and two hundred U. S. troops, under Capt. Stewart, had gone out to attack them in front and rear. The Indians have commenced hostilities in good earnest. There are on the road, on the Carson Valley route, six or seven hundred emigrants who will probably fall victims to the cruelty and rapacity of the Indians. The utter want of protection afforded by the government to the overland route, when thousands of lives are risked every year, is strange. It shows great recklessness, not only on the part of the government, but of the people also.

THE SANTA FE TRADE.—A correspondent of the Chicago Journal says:—"I have had opportunity to see the monster caravans and trains which transport heavy groceries, dry goods and military stores to those distant regions. I was also permitted to examine a register kept by S. M. Hays & Co., merchants at Council Grove, in which is entered the number of men, horses, oxen, mules, wagons and tons of freight which pass that point outward bound only, exclusive of Pike's Peak and emigrant trains. I find that during the spring and summer of 1859, 2,169 men, 1,793 wagons, 1,143 horses, 16,088 oxen, 5,033 mules, and 4,500 tons of freight passed over that great natural road to various points in New Mexico and the far west. Also, that during the month of May, 1860, 931 men, 644 wagons, 181 horses, 2,032 mules, 4,979 oxen, and 3,220 tons of freight passed over the same route. This already rich and heavy trade is increasing very rapidly, and must shortly absolutely demand the aid of railroads.

☞ The Argus says that the Covode committee "have made a very bitter report." Yes, bitter for the democrats, but bitters are tonics, and will do you good.

☞ The proceeds of the Wigwam Concert at Chicago amounted to $1,576.95.—Rev. Mr. Colyer has been despatched with $1,500, with directions to take the line of the tornado at Lee Centre, in Illinois, and follow it to the Mississippi, relieving all sufferers found in its track.

☞ The marshal of the city of Quincy, Ill., has given notice that the "owners of all dogs" must be muzzled, as provided by a city ordinance.

REPORTED FOR THE DAILY GAZETTE.

BY WISCONSIN STATE TELEGRAPH LINE; Office in Union Passenger Depot.

NEW YORK, June 19.

The steamer City of Washington has arrived, with London advices, via Queenstown, of the 8th.

LONDON, June 8.

Although yesterday was settling day, the money market was totally without fluctuation.

The London Advertiser says the effect of the passage of Mr. McKennon's amendment to the reform bill will be the postponement of the bill indefinitely, in which contingency Lord Russell and Mr. Gladstone will resign.

It is understood that Lord Clarendon would return to the foreign office, and Cornwall Lewis, Chancellor of the Exchequer.

The conservatives want the Palmerston administration overthrown.

The report the stock exchange committee on Fullinger's (the defaulter,) case, leaves upward of £172,000 unaccounted for, the greater part of which probably went upon the turf.

A Paris despatch says France promptly refused the request of Naples for foreign intervention in Sicily.

WASHINGTON, June 18.

SENATE.—Mr. Hammond offered an amendment appropriating $300,000 to pay the contract with A. W. Thompson for coal lands at Chiriqua, and supported it in a few remarks. He advocated it it as establishing a naval depot, which would lead to forming an excellent transit across the Isthmus.

Senate re-assembled at 3 P. M., and after waiting a long time for consideration of naval appropriation bill, Mr. Hammond's amendment for the purchase of coal lands on both sides of Chiriqua was debated at great length and passed.

Adjourned.

HOUSE.—The House re assembled at 7 P. M.

Mr. Florence, by unanimous consent, read a proposition for information setting forth that the resolutions of censure passed on the President on the 8th, were unconstitutional, and authorizing the Speaker to write over them, "expunged by order of the House." The proposition was withdrawn after an humorous debate.

The civil appropriation bill was taken up and several amendments added.

BALTIMORE CONVENTION.

BALTIMORE, June 18.

At the close of the proceedings published yesterday, Mr. Salisbury moved to adjourn till 4 o'clock, which was lost.

The convention refused to second the previous question on the amendment of Mr. Church, of N. Y., to the motion of Mr. Howard, by ayes, 107½; noes, 140½.

The motion to take a recess till 5 o'clock was carried.

P. M. SESSION.—The convention re-assembled at 5 o'clock.

The question pending was the amendment of Mr. Gilmer, of Penn., to the amendment of Mr. Church of N. Y.

The president announced that credentials had been placed in his hands from Delaware, Georgia, Alabama, Florida, Mississippi, Lousiana, Texas and Arkansas, with a letter from the Mississippi delegates, presented by Mr. Howard, of Tennesee, and a communication from Mr. Chaffee, claiming a seat from Massachusetts.

The several propositions before the convention were then read.

Mr. Gilmer, of Penn., perfected his amendment by making it read:

Resolved, That the president of the convention be authorized to issue tickets to the delegates from Texas, Mississippi, Arkansas and Florida, in which there are no contesting seats, and that in those states where there are contesting delegations,a committee on credentials be appointed by the several delegations upon said states.

Mr. Clark, of Mo., asked consent to modify the last amendment.

Mr. Richardson, of Ill., raised the point of order that after several propositions were placed before the convention, they could not be altered.

Mr. Clark asked that his proposition might be read for information, which was objected to by Mr. Samuels, of Iowa, and others, eliciting a warm debate.

Finally Mr. Samuels withdrew his objection, with the understanding that the propsition should be read for information.

The proposition was then read as follows:

Resolved, That the citizens of the several states of the Union have an equal right to settle and remain in the territories of the U. S., and to hold therein, unmolested by any legislation whatever, their slaves or other property; and this convention recognizes the opinion of the supreme court of the United States in the Dred Scott case as a true exposition of the constitution in regard to the rights of the citizens of the several states or territories of the U. S., upon all subjects of which it treats; and that the members of this convention pledge themselves, and require all others who may be authorized delegates to make the same pledge, to the support of democratic candidates.

In answer to an inquiry, the president stated that as the resolution was only read for information, it could not be considered as before the convention.

Mr. Randall withdrew from the floor in order to allow Mr. Gilmore to modify his amendment in the manner proposed.

Mr. Randall then took the floor and argued in favor of the amendment by Mr. Gilmore, and against the amendment by Mr. Church. He denied the right of the convention, which is simply a delegated body, to impose any conditions at all upon seven seceding states. [Applause and hisses.] He also denied the policy of making any terms to the seceding states, for they would not accept an entrance into the convention on such terms. The party was to fight a battle at the polls in which it would be necessary to unite all sections against the opposition party. [Applause and hisses from the gallery.]

Mr. Hoge, of Va., demanded to know whether delegates were to sit here and submit to the insult of hisses from the gallery when sentiments favorable to their friends of the south, in which they themselves coincided, were expressed by a gentleman of such respectability as Mr. Randall of Pennsylvania. If this outside pressure was to be brought up to crush out fairness of discussion, Virginia had better know it at once, and retire from the field in which she was prevented from defending her rights. [Loud applause.]

The president announced that if the galleries gave utterance to such of signs disapprobation again, they would be cleared.

Mr. Samuels of Iowa while anxious to preserve to every man the right to be heard, could not but say that manifestations of applause were calculated to draw manifestations of disapproval. Both should be checked or both allowed.

Mr. Randall said if any serpent-like hises had been made he had not heard them. He then proceeded to enlarge upon the rights of the seceding delegations, and urged conciliation and harmony in the action of the convention. He concluded with an eloquent appeal to unite against the common foe.

Mr. Richardson of Illinois was opposed to the resolution of the gentleman from Pennsylvania, (Randall,) because it sought to let into the convention from Florida those who were not delegated to this convention. Their constituents had refused to send them there. A gentleman from Florida had informed him that the delegation would take their seats in the convention if the olive branch was extended to them.—He, for one, was not willing to sit beside those who represented no constituency, and who were bound by nothing that is done here, while he himself was bound for everything. He was further opposed to the amendment because it proposed to admit the delegates from Arkansas, when a contesting delegation was announced to be here from that state. Was the convention to prejudge this case? Mississippi came here without opposition, and she was placed in the list with these other states. When a contest arises, it should be investigated by a committee.

A Voice—Why was it not done at Charleston?

Mr. Richardson—Because at Charleston, when action was taken, there was no regular organization. Now it was different, and he was in favor of investigation into the facts wherever there was a contest. The investigation could not consume much time, and he repeated that it should be made in justice to all. He said he should not be drawn into the notice of any issues not directly pertaining to the question immediately before them.

Mr. Cochrane, of New York, said this question was not one of admission of new delegates, it was of far graver importance. A portion of the seats on this floor were vacant, and a question arises, why are they thus vacant? The question also arises, was there justification—was there excuse for the secession that had left a portion of the seats unoccupied? However this might be decided, he deemed it well for the convention to seek to bring back their erring brothers. He was not favorable to either of the resolutions as they stood. He was unwilling to place any obligations on the returning delegates that would call a blush to their cheeks, or cause a pain to their hearts; but it should be remembered that such terms were placed upon the delegation from New York upon a former occasion and there might be now some excuse for its being offered. He could assure the convention that they would always be found, as they hitherto had been found, on the side of liberty and justice.

Mr. Russell, of Virginia, said he had at a former period felt anxious to address the convention. He did not feel so now, because the vote taken at the morning session gave promise of a desire on the part of the majority to secure harmony of action that could not fail to lead to a happy union, on principles and on candidates, but as a proposition had been made to improve these terms, he might say a few words on the question. Virginia was here emphatically as she had been at Charleston, to harmonize the action of the democracy. She had seen a rule adopted empowering votes to be cast in a manner which she considered unfair to the delegations. She had seen a platform voted down which her people desired, and one adopted which they are opposed to. While eight states of the south had gone out of the convention she had remained present. Could she give any better proof of her devotion to the democracy of the north? But she desired to say now that she was equally devoted to the south. If true to the north, should she not also be true to the turning point? United with her sister southern states she meant to see fair play between states. She meant to see fair play between the north and south. What was fair play? It was that all the delegates accredited to Charleston should be admitted to the floor. But he did not desire to press this upon the convention; at least the delegations not contested should be admitted at once without any delay, and the contested delegates should be referred to a committee. He called the attention of the gentleman from Illinois, who had made the objection to the admission of the delegates where seats were uncontested, to the fact that at Charleston the Illinois delegation were admitted, although their seats were contested by other delegates. He was in favor of admitting all uncontesting seats to the convention. As to imposing restrictions or pledges upon the delegates, he deemed all here were men of honor enough to be bound by such pledges as honor places upon them. [Applause.]

Further motions were made by gents from different states to clear the galleries, which were met by cries of "No!" "No!" Some contended such proceeding would be unjust, as it was not done at Charleston, when repeated hisses were mingled with applause. The motions were not passed.

Mr. Montgomery said the very men who were now so eager to be admitted to this convention, were those who separated from it at Charleston, afterwards met at Richmond, and now hold the doings of their meetings at both places over this body as a scare crow to force us to accede to their request. Such men must be destitute of the first principle of manly honor.

"THAT IS A BOY I CAN TRUST.—"I once visited," says a gentleman, "a large public school. At recess, a little fellow came up and spoke to the master; and as he turned to go down the platform, the master said, 'That is a boy I can trust. He never failed me.' I followed him with my eye, and looked at him when he took his seat after recess. He had a fine, open, manly face. I thought a good deal about the master's remark. What a character had that little boy earned. He had already secured what would be worth more to him than a fortune. It would be a passport to the best office in the city, and, what is better to the confidence of the whole community. I wonder if the boys know how soon they are rated by older people. Every boy in the neighborhood is known; opinions are formed of him, and he has a character, either favorable or unfavorable. A boy of whom the master can say, 'I can trust him; he never failed me,' will never want employment. The fidelity, promptness, and industry which he has shown at school are prized everywhere. The above is an interesting index to the whole subject of political agitation at the present.

To begin with the capital L, in the center and read any way you please, only verging at right angles outward and toward the nearest corner, up and down, right and left, and you will find "Lincoln and Hamlin."

In the same manner place truth in the center of this campaign, and read it from any way you please, up and down, right and left—domestic, manufactural, commercial, financial, political, moral or religious, and it will pronounce the echo of the index,

Lincoln and Hamlin.

House and homes for the homeless, can only be obtained by the election of

Lincoln and Hamlin.

Manufacturing operations can only be sustained and encouraged, and many thousands of the industrial poor be employed, but by the election of

Lincoln and Hamlin.

Our internal improvements for commerce in rivers and harbors, farther than contributes to southern interests, cannot be had without the election of

Lincoln and Hamlin.

The public treasury, cannot be considered in safe deposit, or the funds honestly disbursed, without the election of

Lincoln and Hamlin.

Officers of executive appointment will be perfectly unreliable to public trust, as no reference is had to public and national good, but to party and fraudalent purposes, unless we elect Lincoln and Hamlin.

If the moral aspect of the nation is an item worth attention, it must be considered in this campaign, for, show me a man that makes morality the rule of life, and yet patronizes the present administration, and I will show you a prodigy—and this item can be properly considered only in the election of Lincoln and Hamlin.

If man cannot live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God, he must do unto others as he would they should do unto him, and remember those in bonds, as bound with them, and under present circumstances, there is no way of paying national respect to the "higher law," than a change of administration. Fancy for one moment, the present administration with every patron, assembled in one place with one accord all upon their knees, with intense fervour, saying "O, Lord perpetuate American slavery; enlarge its borders; make this goodly land of pilgrims a theatre of oppression and blood; tear away the obstructions of state legislatures and religious associations and conventions; open unrestrictedly the slave trade; both let and make the nations of the earth; and the isles of the seas; contribute to enhance the groans, the sweat, the blood, and all the mental agony to immortal minds, which is possible to endure; cramp their eternal destiny down under the hand of a merciful driver, the coffle and dungeon in this life, and eternal perdition in the world to come." And virtually your fancy is an absolute reality; again, fancy a still larger company collected, including every devoted praying man and woman, every inhabitant who is governed by moral principle, with one accord, saying "Our father which art in Heaven, let thy kingdom come and thy will be done in earth as it is done in Heaven; break every yoke and let the oppressed go free; send liberty to the captive; light, life and salvation to the poor down-trodden slave; apply the virtues of that blood that washes the foulest clean, and raises the slave to a king in Heaven." And, fancy again, that they are all agreed and expect what they ask, because they ask for Christ's sake; and, consequently proceed immediately to apply the human means within their power in the political department.—Ask James Buchanan, his cabinet, his conservatives, the slaver, the enslaved, the christian, the hypocrite, the infidel, the nations of the earth, the spirits above, and spirits beneath to harmonize action; with this prayer, for whom should they vote, and every voice would exclaim, up and down, right and left with the index, they should certainly vote for

LINCOLN AND HAMLIN.

FAIRBANKS' SCALES.——Among the large number of the highest premiums awarded to these scales during the last thirty years by the most scientific associations in the country, and by national, state and county fairs, are thirteen by the Illinois, Wisconsin and Iowa state fairs of 1859, and the national fair held at the same time in Chicago, and that, too, after sharp competition and the most rigid tests. But what is of more importance to practical men, as showing not only the great strength and accuracy, but durability, of these scales, is the award of superiority in these respects by the vast numbers who have used them for many years, all over the world, almost, in all branches of business, and under all circumstances.

The skill and enterprise of the Messrs. Fairbanks, and their large experience and unequalled facilities, enable them to adapt their scales to all required uses, and at moderate prices; and so long as they keep them up to their present point of excellence, and pursue their present honorable mode of dealing, the public will wisely continue to use their scales, which have been tried and approved, rather than experiment with others.—Press and Tribune.

"Faith," said an Irishman who could not get into his cabin at Ballingarry, his wife having turned the key upon him, "faith, its meself that's riglarly locked in."

"In," said a companion, "in where?"

"In the strate, sure."

Old party, (very naturally excited)—Why confound you, you are wiping my plate with your handkerchief!

Waiter, (blandly)—It's of no consequence sir; it's only a dirty one.—Punch.

From Baltimore.

The "irrepressible conflict" goes on in the democratic convention according to the programme. There are all sorts of rumors afloat. It is reported that New York is not as strong for Douglas as she was, and that the New Hampshire delegates are shaky, thinking that possibly "poor Pierce" might be nominated. The Douglas men, some of them, propose to nominate their favorite by a resolution of the convention, which would require only a majority. In all their speeches they talk wholly about Douglas, but not a word about democracy. We get none of the proceedings of to-day, and the doings of last night are not finished. We should have been glad to have seen a reply to Mr. Montgomery's last remark, which we think must have been considered personal by the seceders.

Money Abundant.—The Chicago Tribune says:—The demand for money has decreased immensely. As compared with years gone by borrowers are few and their wants by no means pressing. Within the last two years debts to the amount of millions of dollars have been liquidated in this city alone. Beginning with a few thousand dollars among the smaller firms, they swell to tens and hundreds of thousands among many of the heavier dealers. The same general remarks will apply to nearly every portion of the west. Hence the ease which has characterized the money market of the Atlantic cities for many months begins to be felt at the west. Should the in-coming crop equal present expectations, and fair prices be realized, substantial borrowers will be able to dictate almost their own terms to lenders.

From California.—The overland mail brings news to May 28th. The pony express has been suspended on account of Indian depredations in Carson Valley. There were 1500 Indians remaining in the vicinity of Pyramid Lake, and six hundred hunters under Col. J. C. Hays, and two hundred U. S. troops, under Capt. Stewart, had gone out to attack them in front and rear. The Indians have commenced hostilities in good earnest. There are on the road, on the Carson Valley route, six or seven hundred emigrants who will probably fall victims to the cruelty and rapacity of the Indians. The utter want of protection afforded by the government to the overland route, when thousands of lives are risked every year, is strange. It shows great recklessness, not only on the part of the government, but of the people also.

The Santa Fe Trade.—A correspondent of the Chicago Journal says:—"I have had opportunity to see the monster caravans and trains which transport heavy groceries, dry goods and military stores to those distant regions. I was also permitted to examine a register kept by S. M. Hays & Co., merchants at Council Grove, in which is entered the number of men, horses, oxen, mules, wagons and tons of freight which pass that point outward bound only, exclusive of Pike's Peak and emigrant trains. I find that during the spring and summer of 1859, 2,169 men, 1,793 wagons, 1,143 horses, 16,058 oxen, 5,033 mules, and 4,500 tons of freight passed over that great natural road to various points in New Mexico and the far west. Also, that during the month of May, 1860, 931 men, 644 wagons, 181 horses, 2,032 mules, 4,979 oxen, and 3,220 tons of freight passed over the same route. This already rich and heavy trade is increasing very rapidly, and must shortly absolutely demand the aid of railroads.

☞ The Argus says that the Covode committee "have made a very bitter report." Yes, bitter for the democrats, but bitters are tonics, and will do you good.

☞ The proceeds of the Wigwam Concert at Chicago amounted to $1,576.95.—Rev. Mr. Colyer has been despatched with $1,500, with directions to take the line of the tornado at Lee Centre, in Illinois, and follow it to the Mississippi, relieving all sufferers found in its track.

☞ The marshal of the city of Quincy, Ill., has given notice that the "owners of all dogs" must be muzzled, as provided by a city ordinance.

Business of the Dead Letter Office.—For the three quarters ending March 31, 1860, the number of dead letters which contained money sent, was 7,448. Their aggregate contents amounted to $58,456. The number of letters delivered was 6,276, restored to lawful owners $32,877. Number of letters unclaimed and outstanding, 1,172. During the same period the number of letters sent out containing articles of value, other than money, was 10,075. Of these 9,298 were delivered. Among the articles returned to their owners were nine hundred and fifty-two daguerreotypes.

Appealed.—The suit for the recovery of interest on railroad bonds, recently decided in Judge Miller's court against the city of Racine, has been appealed to the United States supreme court.

Telegraphic.

REPORTED FOR THE DAILY GAZETTE.

BY WISCONSIN STATE TELEGRAPH LINE, Office in Union Passenger Depot.

New York, June 19.

The steamer City of Washington has arrived, with London advices, via Queenstown, of the 8th.

London, June 8.

Although yesterday was settling day, the money market was totally without fluctuation.

The London Advertiser says the effect of the passage of Mr. McKennon's amendment to the reform bill will be the postponement of the bill indefinitely, in which contingency Lord Russell and Mr. Gladstone will resign.

It is understood that Lord Clarendon would return to the foreign office, and Cornwall Lewis, Chancellor of the Exchequer.

The conservatives want the Palmerston administration overthrown.

The report the stock exchange committee on Fullinger's (the defaulter,) case, leaves upward of £172,000 unaccounted for, the greater part of which probably went upon the turf.

A Paris despatch says France promptly refused the request of Naples for foreign intervention in Sicily.

Washington, June 18.

SENATE.—Mr. Hammond offered an amendment appropriating $300,000 to pay the contract with A. W. Thompson for coal lands at Chiriqua, and supported it in a few remarks. He advocated it it as establishing a naval depot, which would lead to forming an excellent transit across the Isthmus.

Senate re-assembled at 3 P. M., and after waiting a long time for consideration of naval appropriation bill, Mr. Hammond's amendment for the purchase of coal lands on both sides of Chiriqua was debated at great length and passed.

Adjourned.

HOUSE.—The House re assembled at 7 P. M.

Mr. Florence, by unanimous consent, read a proposition for information setting forth that the resolutions of censure passed on the President on the 8th, were unconstitutional, and authorizing the Speaker to write over them, "expunged by order of the House." The proposition was withdrawn after an humorous debate.

The civil appropriation bill was taken up and several amendments added.

Adjourned.

BALTIMORE CONVENTION.

Baltimore, June 18.

At the close of the proceedings published yesterday, Mr. Salisbury moved to adjourn till 4 o'clock, which was lost.

The convention refused to second the previous question on the amendment of Mr. Church, of N. Y., to the motion of Mr. Howard, by ayes, 107½; noes, 140½.

The motion to take a recess till 5 o'clock was carried.

P. M. Session.—The convention re-assembled at 5 o'clock.

The question pending was the amendment of Mr. Gilmer, of Penn., to the amendment of Mr. Church of N. Y.

The president announced that credentials had been placed in his hands from Delaware, Georgia, Alabama, Florida, Mississippi, Lousiana, Texas and Arkansas, with a letter from the Mississippi delegates, presented by Mr. Howard, of Tennesee, and a communication from Mr. Chaffee, claiming a seat from Massachusetts.

The several propositions before the convention were then read.

Mr. Gilmer, of Penn., perfected his amendment by making it read:

Resolved, That the president of the convention be authorized to issue tickets to the delegates from Texas, Mississippi, Arkansas and Florida, in which there are no contesting seats, and that in those states where there are contesting delegations,a committee on credentials be appointed by the several delegations upon said states.

Mr. Clark, of Mo., asked consent to modify the last amendment.

Mr. Richardson, of Ill., raised the point of order that after several propositions were placed before the convention, they could not be altered.

Mr. Clark asked that his proposition might be read for information, which was objected to by Mr. Samuels, of Iowa, and others, eliciting a warm debate.

Finally Mr. Samuels withdrew his objection, with the understanding that the propsition should be read for information.

The proposition was then read as follows:

Resolved, That the citizens of the several states of the Union have an equal right to settle and remain in the territories of the U. S., and to hold therein, unmolested by any legislation whatever, their slaves or other property; and this convention recognizes the opinion of the supreme court of the United States in the Dred Scott case as a true exposition of the constitution in regard to the rights of the citizens of the several states or territories of the U. S., upon all subjects of which it treats; and that the members of this convention pledge themselves, and require all others who may be authorized delegates to make the same pledge, to the support of democratic candidates.

In answer to an inquiry, the president stated that as the resolution was only read for information, it could not be considered as before the convention.

Mr. Randall withdrew from the floor in order to allow Mr. Gilmore to modify his amendment in the manner proposed.

Mr. Randall then took the floor and argued in favor of the amendment by Mr. Gilmore, and against the amendment by Mr. Church. He denied the right of the convention, which is simply a delegated body, to impose any conditions at all upon seven seceding states. [Applause and hisses.] He also denied the policy of making any terms to the seceding states, for they would not accept an entrance into the convention on such terms. The party was to fight a battle at the polls in which it would be necessary to unite all sections against the opposition party. [Applause and hisses from the gallery.]

Mr. Hoge, of Va., demanded to know whether delegates were to sit here and submit to the insult of hisses from the gallery when sentiments favorable to their friends of the south, in which they themselves coincided, were expressed by a gentleman of such respectability as Mr. Randall of Pennsylvania. If this outside pressure was to be brought up to crush out fairness of discussion, Virginia had better know it at once, and retire from the field in which she was prevented from defending her rights. [Loud applause.]

The president announced that if the galleries gave utterance to such of signs disapprobation again, they would be cleared.

Mr. Samuels of Iowa while anxious to preserve to every man the right to be heard, could not but say that manifestations of applause were calculated to draw manifestations of disapproval. Both should be checked or both allowed.

Mr. Randall said if any serpent-like hisses had been made he had not heard them. He then proceeded to enlarge upon the rights of the seceding delegations, and urged conciliation and harmony in the action of the convention. He concluded with an eloquent appeal to unite against the common foe.

Mr. Richardson of Illinois was opposed to the resolution of the gentleman from Pennsylvania, (Randall,) because it sought to let into the convention from Florida those who were not delegated to this convention. Their constituents had refused to send them there. A gentleman from Florida had informed him that the delegation would take their seats in the convention if the olive branch was extended to them.—He, for one, was not willing to sit beside those who represented no constituency, and who were bound by nothing that is done here, while he himself was bound for everything. He was further opposed to the amendment because it proposed to admit the delegates from Arkansas, when a contesting delegation was announced to be here from that state. Was the convention to prejudge this case? Mississippi came here without opposition, and she was placed in the list with these other states. When a contest arises, it should be investigated by a committee.

A Voice—Why was it not done at Charleston?

Mr. Richardson—Because at Charleston, when action was taken, there was no regular organization. Now it was different, and he was in favor of investigation into the facts wherever there was a contest. The investigation could not consume much time, and he repeated that it should be made in justice to all. He said he should not be drawn into the notice of any issues not directly pertaining to the question immediately before them.

Mr. Cochrane, of New York, said this question was not one of admission of new delegates, it was of far graver importance. A portion of the seats on this floor were vacant, and a question arises, why are they thus vacant? The question also arises, was there justification—was there excuse for the secession that had left a portion of the seats unoccupied? However this might be decided, he deemed it well for the convention to seek to bring back their erring brothers. He was not favorable to either of the resolutions as they stood. He was unwilling to place any obligations on the returning delegates that would call a blush to their cheeks, or cause a pain to their hearts; but it should be remembered that such terms were placed upon the delegation from New York upon a former occasion and there might be now some excuse for its being offered. He could assure the convention that they would always be found, as they hitherto had been found, on the side of liberty and justice.

Mr. Russell, of Virginia, said he had at a former period felt anxious to address the convention. He did not feel so now, because the vote taken at the morning session gave promise of a desire on the part of the majority to secure harmony of action that could not fail to lead to a happy union, on principles and on candidates, but as a proposition had been made to improve these terms, he might say a few words on the question. Virginia was here emphatically as she had been at Charleston, to harmonize the action of the democracy. She had seen a rule adopted empowering votes to be cast in a manner which she considered unfair to the delegations. She had seen a platform voted down which her people desired, and one adopted which they are opposed to. While eight states of the south had gone out of the convention she had remained present. Could she give any better proof of her devotion to the democracy of the north? But she desired to say now that she was equally devoted to the south. If true to the north, should she not also be true to the turning point? United with her sister southern states she meant to see fair play between states. She meant to see fair play between the north and south. What was fair play? It was that all the delegates accredited to Charleston should be admitted to the floor. But he did not desire to press this upon the convention; at least the delegations not contested should be admitted at once without any delay, and the contested delegates should be referred to a committee. He called the attention of the gentleman from Illinois, who had made the objection to the admission of the delegates where seats were uncontested, to the fact that at Charleston the Illinois delegation were admitted, although their seats were contested by other delegates. He was in favor of admitting all uncontesting seats to the convention. As to imposing restrictions or pledges upon the delegates, he deemed all here were men of honor enough to be bound by such pledges as honor places upon them. [Applause.]

Further motions were made by gents from different states to clear the galleries, which were met by cries of "No!" "No!" Some contended such proceeding would be unjust, as it was not done at Charleston, when repeated hisses were mingled with applause. The motions were not passed.

Mr. Montgomery said the very men who were now so eager to be admitted to this convention, were those who separated from it at Charleston, afterwards met at Richmond, and now hold the doings of their meetings at both places over this body as a scare crow to force us to accede to their request. Such men must be destitute of the first principle of manly honor.

"That is a Boy I Can Trust.—"I once visited," says a gentleman, "a large public school. At recess, a little fellow came up and spoke to the master; and as he turned to go down the platform, the master said, 'That is a boy I can trust. He never failed me.' I followed him with my eye, and looked at him when he took his seat after recess. He had a fine, open, manly face. I thought a good deal about the master's remark. What a character had that little boy earned. He had already secured what would be worth more to him than a fortune. It would be a passport to the best office in the city, and, what is better to the confidence of the whole community. I wonder if the boys know how soon they are rated by older people. Every boy in the neighborhood is known; opinions are formed of him, and he has a character, either favorable or unfavorable. A boy of whom the master can say, 'I can trust him; he never failed me,' will never want employment. The fidelity, promptness, and industry which he has shown at school are prized everywhere. 'He who is faithful in a little, will be faithful in much.'"

The above is an interesting index to the whole subject of political agitation at the present.

To begin with the capital L, in the center and read any way you please, only verging at right angles outward and toward the nearest corner, up and down, right and left, and you will find Lincoln and Hamlin.

In the same manner place truth in the center of this campaign, and read it from any way you please, up and down, right and left—do mestic, manufactural, commercial, financial, political, moral or religious, and it will pronounce the echo of the index,

Lincoln and Hamlin.

House and homes for the homeless, can only be obtained by the election of

Lincoln and Hamlin.

Manufacturing operations can only be sustained and encouraged, and many thousands of the industrial poor be employed, but by the election of

Lincoln and Hamlin.

Our internal improvements for commerce in rivers and harbors, farther than contributes to southern interests, cannot be had without the election of

Lincoln and Hamlin.

The public treasury, cannot be considered in safe deposit, or the funds honestly disbursed, without the election of

Lincoln and Hamlin.

Officers of executive appointment will be perfectly unreliable to public trust, as no reference is had to public and national good, but to party and fraudulent purposes, unless we elect Lincoln and Hamlin.

If the moral aspect of the nation is an item worth attention, it must be considered in this campaign, for, show me a man that makes morality the rule of life, and yet patronizes the present administration, and I will show you a prodigy—and this item can be properly considered only in the election of Lincoln and Hamlin.

If man cannot live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God, he must do unto others as he would they should do unto him, and remember those in bonds, as bound with them, and under present circumstances, there is no way of paying national respect to the "higher law," than a change of administration. Fancy for one moment, the present administration with every patron, assembled in one place with one accord all upon their knees, with intense fervour, saying "O, Lord perpetuate American slavery; enlarge its borders; make this goodly land of pilgrims a theatre of oppression and blood; tear away the obstructions of state legislatures and religious associations and conventions; open unrestrictedly the slave trade; both let and make the nations of the earth; and the isles of the seas; contribute to enhance the groans, the sweat, the blood, and all the mental agony to immortal minds, which is possible to endure; cramp their eternal destiny down under the hand of a merciful driver, the coffle and dungeon in this life, and eternal perdition in the world to come." And virtually your fancy is an absolute reality; again, fancy a still larger company collected, including every devoted praying man and woman, every inhabitant who is governed by moral principle, with one accord, saying "Our father which art in Heaven, let thy kingdom come and thy will be done in earth as it is done in Heaven; break every yoke and let the oppressed go free; send liberty to the captive; light, life and salvation to the poor down-trodden slave; apply the virtues of that blood that washes the foulest clean, and raises the slave to a king in Heaven." And, fancy again, that they are all agreed and expect what they ask, because they ask for Christ's sake; and, consequently proceed immediately to apply the human means within their power in the political department.—Ask James Buchanan, his cabinet, his conservatives, the slaver, the enslaved, the christian, the hypocrite, the infidel, the nations of the earth, the spirits above, and spirits beneath to harmonize action; with this prayer, for whom should they vote, and every voice would exclaim, up and down, right and left with the index, they should certainly vote for

LINCOLN AND HAMLIN.

Fairbanks' Scales.——Among the large number of the highest premiums awarded to these scales during the last thirty years by the most scientific associations in the country, and by national, state and county fairs, are thirteen by the Illinois, Wisconsin and Iowa state fairs of 1859, and the national fair held at the same time in Chicago, and that, too, after sharp competition and the most rigid tests. But what is of more importance to practical men, as showing not only the great strength and accuracy, but durability, of these scales, is the award of superiority in these respects by the vast numbers who have used them for many years, all over the world, almost, in all branches of business, and under all circumstances.

The skill and enterprise of the Messrs. Fairbanks, and their large experience and unequalled facilities, enable them to adapt their scales to all required uses, and at moderate prices; and so long as they keep them up to their present point of excellence, and pursue their present honorable mode of dealing, the public will wisely continue to use their scales, which have been tried and approved, rather than experiment with others.—Press and Tribune.

"Faith," said an Irishman who could not get into his cabin at Ballingarry, his wife having turned the key upon him, "faith, its meself that's riglarly locked in."

"In," said a companion, "in where?"

"In the strate, sure."

Old party, (very naturally excited)—Why confound you, you are wiping my plate with your handkerchief!

Waiter, (blandly)—It's of no consequence sir; it's only a dirty one.—Punch.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

POCKET BOOK LOST.—A pocket book or wallet, much worn, containing $20 in bills and a small amount in change, was lost to-day on Bluff street between the gas works and North Second street, or in North Second street, or in Main street between North Second street and the store of Chapman & Bro. The finder will be liberally rewarded by leaving it at this office, or the Fanning Mill factory of Nash & Cutts.

A letter from a gentleman who has long been afflicted with Dyspepsia:

Burlington, Iowa, June 1st, 1860.

Mr. G. Hogan: Dear Sir:—According to agreement, I write you in regard to the Pain Destroyer. I hope you will forgive me for my abuse to you when at McGregor's Landing, when you told me it would cure my dispepsia. I have used the bottle you gave me, and it has actually cured me. I am as well to-day as I ever was, I eat very hearty, without feeling the least inconvenience from it, and I can sleep soundly all night. Enclosed please find $5,00. Please forward me 1 dozen bottles, by express, to St. Louis. I never want to be without it in the house, for it has cured my dispepsia after so many other medicines had failed to give any relief. I now have faith that it will do all that is recommended for it. You said you was going to make a fortune out of it, and I really believe you will. If every one of the afflicted of mankind had the faith in it that I have, your fortune would be made in six months. I shall always remember you and the Pain Destroyer; God grant that I may never forget you as my friend and benefactor.

Respectfully, your ob't serv't,

Farm Mortgages.—We learn that the supreme court has decided the railroad farm mortgages valid.

Another Celebration.—We understand that the question of a Sabbath school celebration, which has been discussed among the members of the Congregational church and congregation, has been decided by fixing upon the 12th of July next as the day, and the selection of Madison as the place. The arrangements will be announced in due time.

For the Daily Gazette.

A Compliment to our Schools.—I was pleased to hear a universal expression of gratification at the conduct of the children, during their tarry at Madison on the day of the excursion. The order maintained at the church, on the train, and throughout the day, was but a natural result of the system of discipline in our schools. The rigid enforcement of order by our teachers is of incalculable benefit to the young, and will tell favorably on the future of our community. Let us cherish our teachers, and sustain them in their self-denying exertions for our children. G.

Runaway.—As Mrs. Allen Bates and Mrs. Phelps were riding in a buggy down Milwaukee street hill, on the east side, this afternoon, some part of the harness gave way, and let the buggy forward upon the horse, who ran against a post near Hodge's blacksmith shop and precipitated the ladies to the side-walk. Fortunately they escaped without further injury than some severe cuts and bruises.

Child Found.—The child of Geo. Sanders, advertised as lost yesterday, was found late in the afternoon, west of the railroad bridge. The little thing had had a long tramp, and her recovery was as gratifying to herself as it was to her parents.

Too Many Nothings.—The addition of 0 in yesterday's paper added largely to the amount of insurance on the dwelling of Mr. Parshall. Instead of "$1,4000," read $1,400.

For the Daily Gazette.

The officers, teachers and scholars of the Baptist Sabbath School of Janesville, desirous of expressing their appreciation of the kindness shown them on their late excursion to Madison, have adopted the following resolutions expressive of their gratitude:

Resolved, That our thanks are due to the M. & M. R. R. Co., in furnishing so large a train for our use.

Resolved, That Wm. B. Strong, the agent of the Company, deserves our grateful admiration for his management of the preliminaries, his labors in conducting the train, and his self-sacrificing exertions to render the excursion safe and delightful to all; and we tender our expression of thankfulness to the conductor, engineer and other employees of the road, who spared no pains for our comfort and safety.

Resolved, That our friends, M. D. Miller, J. E. Mosely, Herbert Reed and others of Madison, have placed us under lasting obligations by their admirable preparations for our enjoyment in that beautiful city.

Resolved, That Gov. Randall, Secretary Hervey, Superintendent Parks, and other state officers, are entitled to our grateful remembrances for their respective contributions to our pleasure and instruction.

Resolved, That the politeness and attention of the Sabbath schools of various denominations of our sister city, were honorable to them and gratifying to us, and should awaken and perpetuate the most kindly feelings.

[Madison papers please copy.]

A Dangerous Remedy.—Pigeons are so troublesome to the farmers of Minnesota, that recourse has been had to arsenic for the purpose of destroying them. This is a dangerous proceeding, as those birds fly fast and live for some hours after eating the poison. A moment's reflection ought to deter any civilized man from adopting such a practice.

☞ Jones, on the upper bridge, has some fine vegetables for sale. He put a head of lettuce on our table, to-day, which would fill a peck measure.

The Pulaski (New York) Democrat, gives an instance of the pulling of eighteen teeth from the mouth of a lady, by a dentist at that village, at a single sitting the other day. Six of the teeth were double ones, and they were all pulled in an immediate succession, without the use of "chloroform, electricity, or anything else except cold iron,"—she bearing the ordeal without the least indication of flinching or even nervousness. The Democrat thinks this beats all the "extraction of roots" ever performed in the schools.

We guess not, Mr. Democrat. A lady in this city had twenty-two teeth taken from her "ivory box," "without the use of 'chloroform, electricity, or anything else except cold iron,'" in the hands of Dr. M. B. Johnson of this city.

Terrible Calamity at Sandusky.—The balcony of West House, crowded with people to witness the firemen's tournament, fell down on Thursday. A dozen persons were seriously injured, but none killed.

The famous case of two mothers and one baby, which gave Solomon so fine a chance to show his sagacity, has been repeated recently in Rutland, Vermont, where a woman charged another with stealing her child from the cradle. She brought a suit for the baby, and the magistrate, after hearing a good deal of conflicting testimony, decided in favor of the woman who cried the most. That was substantially the judgment of Solomon in the other case, and is probably correct.

The eighth annual commencement of the State University, situated at Madison, will take place on the 27th inst. The following gentlemen constitute the graduating class: G. W. Bird, L. M. Comins, T. J. Hale, J. B. Parkinson, W. P. Powers, M. W. Serl, F. T. Starkweather and J. E. Sutton.

Good for the Lumbermen.—The lumbermen of Chicago have contributed and are about to ship 100,000 feet of lumber to the sufferers by the late tornado in Iowa and Illinois.

ALL SORTS OF PARAGRAPHS.

The Eyes and Nose.—A young lady with cross-eyes made a taunting remark about the overgrown nose of another lady, who retorted: "If I have a big nose, thank Heaven I am not obliged continually to look at it."

Democratic Extravagance. — When Mr. Buchanan entered upon the duties of the presidential office, there was a surplus of eighteen millions in the United States treasury and a public debt of only twenty-nine millions. During the past three years Mr. Buchanan and his party friends have managed to squander this surplus as well as the annual revenue, and have swollen the public debt to sixty-six millions.

An Indian, over 106 years of age, lately accidentally cut himself with a knife, up in Clark county, and was sitting in a stream singing his death song, when he was found and properly attended to.

Six cows, the property of M. Hodges, a farmer in the town of Pompey, Onondaga county, New York, were killed by one stroke of lightning during a recent storm. They were standing under a clump of maple trees, not sixteen feet apart, and all died instantly, without a struggle.

The yellow fever was raging at Acapulco, on the west coast of Mexico, as the last California steamer passed down, add the American consul and some thirty other Americans had died. The steamer did not communicate with the shore.

Tornadoes not Limited to the Prairies.—Some people think that because the west has been visited by tornadoes recently, the prairie country is more subject to such visitations than hilly regions.

This, however, is a mistake, as is proved by the fact that a section of Pennsylvania, the hilliest country in the United States, was visited by a tornado on the 30th inst., that was almost as destructive in its effect as that in Iowa. In Winslow township, in Jefferson county, nearly $200,000 worth of property was destroyed, to say nothing of the large amounts of damage already reported from Clarion county.

City of Naples.—Fancy a city of some 450,000 inhabitants, of whom 12,000 are priests, 40,000 idlers, 4,000 lawyers, and nearly 30,000 prisoners of state locked up in some of the five hundred royal prisons. Fancy this city in a state of chronic siege, with the guns of its forts constantly pointed, not upon its enemies, but upon its people. Fancy a government consisting of a priest-ridden king, cruel, treacherous and false; maintaining his power by the aid of Swiss and German guards, most of whom are kidnapped contrary to law in the southern German states and Switzerland; so miserable an administrator that no department of the government makes any pretense to efficiency but the police, which has its spies everywhere, and is said to be as perfect as Fouche's; so blind to the facts that he believes he is a blessing to his people, and calmly expects that God will scatter his enemies! Finally, fancy a people systematically trained in idleness, servility and ignorance; denied the privileges of wholesome education and the use of books; forced to kneel at the feet of the Jesuits, and taught from their childhood that rebellion against their authority involves not only present punishment, but eternal damnation; educated in contempt for the laws, and every virtue that can exalt the race.—Such is Naples!

Cream Beer.—A writer in the Country Gentleman gives the following receipt. He says:—"As the warm weather is approaching, we begin to think of refreshing drinks. I have a famed recipe which I give. It is an effervescing drink, but far pleasanter than soda water, inasmuch as you do not have to drink for your life, in order to get your money's worth. The effervescence is much more slow. Two ounces of tartaric acid, two pounds of white sugar, the juice of half a lemon, three pints of water. Boil together five minutes. When nearly cold, add the whites of three eggs well beaten, with half a cup of flour, and half an ounce of essence of wintergreen. Bottle and keep in a cool place. Take two tablespoonfuls of this syrup for a tumbler of water, and add one quarter of a teaspoonful of soda.

Life Insurance.

Those desiring this safest and cheapest protection for their families, can secure it in our Wisconsin company. It has already become, in reality, a state institution, having agents and patrons among the best business men in all the principal towns in the state. It is no longer a matter of doubt that life insurance can be conducted as well in Wisconsin as in Connecticut or any other eastern state.

While duty demands that men should insure their lives, it also demands that they should keep their money for investment at home. Confident that our success has been more than equal to that of the most "unprecedented," we would cordially invite all our citizens to call at the office, southwest corner of Main and Wisconsin streets, and examine for themselves.

A. W. Kellogg, Secretary.

FARNHAM'S WATER RAISERS!

THE BEST IN USE.

THE subscriber having erected a large establishment at Johnstown Centre for the sole purpose of manufacturing his

Endless Chain and Bucket Device

for raising water, and his Platform Pump!

by which cattle can raise their own water for drink from wells of ordinary depths, he would say to the inhabitants of Rock and the adjoining counties, that he can fill orders for either of the above, by addressing him at Johnstown Center, Rock county, Wis.

D. P. FARNHAM.

February 26th, 1860.

The following are selected from among the many testimonials to the merits of one of these useful inventions

Bradford, April 20th, 1860.

I have for two years practically tested the worth of Farnham's Self Emptying Buckets, in a 40 foot well. I am convinced that no other method of water raising will bear comparison with them, for ease and speed of operating. No one who appreciates the saving of labor will, after using them, feel disposed to change for pump, windlass or pully. Farnham's Self-Emptying Well Buckets belong to that class of machines that will command patronage wherever introduced.

AARON BRIGGS.

La Prairie, April 19th, 1860.

Having practically tested Farnham's Self-Emptying Buckets, by one year's use, in a well 37 feet deep, I consider them to be decidedly superior to all other methods now in use, and especially in wells of great depth or where much water is drawn for the use of stock. Most of the time there has been drawn from my well from 150 to 200 buckets per day, and the machine shows less wear by its use than is usually shown by the pully or windlass after one year's use in common house wells, being now just as servicable and in as good repair as when new.

D. E. BELDING.

Turtle, April 19th, 1860.

Having used Farnham's Self-Emptying Buckets during the past year in my well, depth 65 feet, I take pleasure in recommending them as superior to all other methods in use with which I am acquainted, both as it respects ease and speed of operation. One of its peculiar excellencies is that the depth of the well makes little if any difference in its ease of being operated.

HIRAM WARNER.

Emerald Grove, May 18th, 1860.

This certifies that I am now using two sets of Farnham's Water Raisers, and am well pleased with them. They are much better than any suction, force or chain pump.

JOHN CUMMING.

Shopiere, May 5th, 1860.

I have used D. P. Farnham's Revolving Well Buckets for a number of months past and find it to be a very convenient, and much the easiest method of raising water from the well that I have ever known.

JOHN H. COOPER.

I have watered all my stock the past winter, and fully concur with the above. JACOB F. DOCKSTADER.

Johnstown, April 25th, 1860.

This certifies that I have used Farnham's Water Raiser in my well (depth 30 feet) about one year, and believe it to be the best method in use for raising water from wells.

WARREN SMITH.

D. P. Farnham, Esq.,—Dear Sir:—I have given your device for raising water a full and fair trial, both in warm and cold weather, and after using a first class pump, two buckets and a wheel, I can truly say, for comfort and speed, your buckets are far ahead of any device within my knowledge, and I think a fair test will satisfy any one of their worthiness.

Yours, JOHN B. PEMBER.

Johnstown, May 1st, 1860.

Mr. D. P. Farnham:—Sir:—This certifies that your Water Raiser gives perfect satisfaction. Its construction is such that it carries fresh air into the well while in operation, keeping the air and water in the well pure. I have formerly used a force pump in my well; it made the water so impure that it could not be used for cooking. The same well now affords excellent water, the buckets having changed the condition of the water, by the introduction of the pure air it carries into the well.

Jonstown, May 8th, 1860. JOSEPH FELLOWS.

FARM MORTGAGES.—We learn that the supreme court has decided the railroad farm mortgages valid.

ANOTHER CELEBRATION.—We understand that the question of a Sabbath school celebration, which has been discussed among the members of the Congregational church and congregation, has been decided by fixing upon the 12th of July next as the day, and the selection of Madison as the place. The arrangements will be announced in due time.

For the Daily Gazette.

A COMPLIMENT TO OUR SCHOOLS.—I was pleased to hear a universal expression of gratification at the conduct of the children, during their tarry at Madison on the day of the excursion. The order maintained at the church, on the train, and throughout the day, was but a natural result of the system of discipline in our schools. The rigid enforcement of order by our teachers is of incalculable benefit to the young, and will tell favorably on the future of our community. Let us cherish our teachers, and sustain them in their self-denying exertions for our children. G.

RUNAWAY.—As Mrs. Allen Bates and Mrs. Phelps were riding in a buggy down Milwaukee street hill, on the east side, this afternoon, some part of the harness gave way, and let the buggy forward upon the horse, who ran against a post near Hodge's blacksmith shop and precipitated the ladies to the side-walk. Fortunately they escaped without further injury than some severe cuts and bruises.

CHILD FOUND.—The child of Geo. Sanders, advertised as lost yesterday, was found late in the afternoon, west of the railroad bridge. The little thing had had a long tramp, and her recovery was as gratifying to herself as it was to her parents.

TOO MANY NOTHINGS.—The addition of 0 in yesterday's paper added largely to the amount of insurance on the dwelling of Mr. Parshall. Instead of "$1,4000," read $1,-400.

For the Daily Gazette.

The officers, teachers and scholars of the Baptist Sabbath School of Janesville, desirous of expressing their appreciation of the kindness shown them on their late excursion to Madison, have adopted the following resolutions expressive of their gratitude:

Resolved, That our thanks are due to the M. & M. R. R. Co., in furnishing so large a train for our use.

Resolved, That Wm. B. Strong, the agent of the Company, deserves our grateful admiration for his management of the preliminaries, his labors in conducting the train, and his self-sacrificing exertions to render the excursion safe and delightful to all; and we tender our expression of thankfulness to the conductor, engineer and other employees of the road, who spared no pains for our comfort and safety.

Resolved, That our friends, M. D. Miller, J. E. Mosely, Herbert Reed and others of Madison, have placed us under lasting obligations by their admirable preparations for our enjoyment in that beautiful city.

Resolved, That Gov. Randall, Secretary Harvey, Superintendent Parks, and other state officers, are entitled to our grateful remembrances for their respective contributions to our pleasure and instruction.

Resolved, That the politeness and attention of the Sabbath schools of various denominations of our sister city, were honorable to them and gratifying to us, and should awaken and perpetuate the most kindly feelings.

[Madison papers please copy.]

A DANGEROUS REMEDY.—Pigeons are so troublesome to the farmers of Minnesota, that recourse has been had to arsenic for the purpose of destroying them. This is a dangerous proceeding, as those birds fly fast and live for some hours after eating the poison. A moment's reflection ought to deter any civilized man from adopting such a practice.

☞ Jones, on the upper bridge, has some fine vegetables for sale. He put a head of lettuce on our table, to-day, which would fill a peck measure.

The Pulaski (New York) Democrat, gives an instance of the pulling of eighteen teeth from the mouth of a lady, by a dentist at that village, at a single sitting the other day. Six of the teeth were double ones, and they were all pulled in an immediate succession, without the use of "chloroform, electricity, or anything else except cold iron,"—she bearing the ordeal without the least indication of flinching or even nervousness. The Democrat thinks this beats all the "extraction of roots" ever performed in the schools.

We guess not, Mr. Democrat. A lady in this city had TWENTY-TWO teeth taken from her "ivory box," "without the use of 'chloroform, electricity, or anything else except cold iron,'" in the hands of Dr. M. B. Johnson of this city.

TERRIBLE CALAMITY AT SANDUSKY.—The balcony of West House, crowded with people to witness the firemen's tournament, fell down on Thursday. A dozen persons were seriously injured, but none killed.

The famous case of two mothers and one baby, which gave Solomon so fine a chance to show his sagacity, has been repeated recently in Rutland, Vermont, where a woman charged another with stealing her child from the cradle. She brought a suit for the baby, and the magistrate, after hearing a good deal of conflicting testimony, decided in favor of the woman who cried the most. That was substantially the judgment of Solomon in the other case, and is probably correct.

The eighth annual commencement of the State University, situated at Madison, will take place on the 27th inst. The following gentlemen constitute the graduating class: G. W. Bird, L. M. Comins, T. J. Hale, J. B. Parkinson, W. P. Powers, M. W. Serl, F. T. Starkweather and J. E. Sutton.

GOOD FOR THE LUMBERMEN.—The lumbermen of Chicago have contributed and are about to ship 100,000 feet of lumber to the sufferers by the late tornado in Iowa and Illinois.

ALL SORTS OF PARAGRAPHS.

THE EYES AND NOSE.—A young lady with cross-eyes made a taunting remark about the overgrown nose of another lady, who retorted: "If I have a big nose, thank Heaven I am not obliged continually to look at it."

DEMOCRATIC EXTRAVAGANCE. — When Mr. Buchanan entered upon the duties of the presidential office, there was a surplus of eighteen millions in the United States treasury and a public debt of only twenty-nine millions. During the past three years Mr. Buchanan and his party friends have managed to squander this surplus as well as the annual revenue, and have swollen the public debt to sixty-six millions.

An Indian, over 106 years of age, lately accidentally cut himself with a knife, up in Clark county, and was sitting in a stream singing his death song, when he was found and properly attended to.

Six cows, the property of M. Hodges, a farmer in the town of Pompey, Onondaga county, New York, were killed by one stroke of lightning during a recent storm. They were standing under a clump of maple trees, not sixteen feet apart, and all died instantly, without a struggle.

The yellow fever was raging at Acapulco, on the west coast of Mexico, as the last California steamer passed down, add the American consul and some thirty other Americans had died. The steamer did not communicate with the shore.

TORNADOES NOT LIMITED TO THE PRAIRIES.—Some people think that because the west has been visited by tornadoes recently, the prairie country is more subject to such visitations than hilly regions.

This, however, is a mistake, as is proved by the fact that a section of Pennsylvania, the hilliest country in the United States, was visited by a tornado on the 30th inst., that was almost as destructive in its effect as that in Iowa. In Winslow township, in Jefferson county, nearly $200,000 worth of property was destroyed, to say nothing of the large amounts of damage already reported from Clarion county.

CITY OF NAPLES.—Fancy a city of some 450,000 inhabitants, of whom 18,000 are priests. 40,000 idlers, 4,000 lawyers, and nearly 30,000 prisoners of state locked up in some of the five hundred royal prisons. Fancy this city in a state of chronic siege, with the guns of its forts constantly pointed, not upon its enemies, but upon its people. Fancy a government consisting of a priest-ridden king, cruel, treacherous and false; maintaining his power by the aid of Swiss and German guards, most of whom are kidnapped contrary to law in the southern German states and Switzerland; so miserable an administrator that no department of the government makes any pretense to efficiency but the police, which has its spies everywhere, and is said to be as perfect as Fouche's; so blind to the facts that he believes he is a blessing to his people, and calmly expects that God will scatter his enemies! Finally, fancy a people systematically trained in idleness, servility and ignorance; denied the privileges of wholesome education and the use of books; forced to kneel at the feet of the Jesuits, and taught from their childhood that rebellion against their authority involves not only present punishment, but eternal damnation; educated in contempt for the laws, and every virtue that can exalt the race.—Such is Naples!

CREAM BEER.—A writer in the Country Gentleman gives the following receipt. He says:—"As the warm weather is approaching, we begin to think of refreshing drinks. I have a famed recipe which I give. It is an effervescing drink, but far pleasanter than soda water, inasmuch as you do not have to drink for your life, in order to get your money's worth. The effervescence is much more slow. Two ounces of tartaric acid, two pounds of white sugar, the juice of half a lemon, three pints of water. Boil together five minutes. When nearly cold, add the whites of three eggs well beaten, with half a cup of flour, and half an ounce of essence of wintergreen. Bottle and keep in a cool place. Take two tablespoonfuls of this syrup for a tumbler of water, and add one quarter of a teaspoonful of soda.

Life Insurance.

Those desiring this safest and cheapest protection for their families, can secure it in our Wisconsin company. It has already become, in reality, a state institution, having agents and patrons among the best business men in all the principal towns in the state. It is no longer a matter of doubt that life insurance can be conducted as well in Wisconsin as in Connecticut or any other eastern state.

While duty demands that men should insure their lives, it also demands that they should keep their money for investment at home. Confident that our success has been more than equal to that of the most "unprecedented," we would cordially invite all our citizens to call at the office, southwest corner of Main and Wisconsin streets, and examine for themselves.

S. S. DAGGETT, President.

A. W. KELLOGG, Secretary.

☞ Messrs. Bixley & Harlow, produce dealers, and Capt. Geo. S. Dodge will receive applications for insurance in this home company, and will also be happy to give information as to the condition thereof, to any one desirous of being informed, in Janesville.

February 28th, 1860.

The following are selected from among the many testimonials to the merits of one of these useful inventions

BRADFORD, April 26th, 1860.

I have for two years practically tested the worth of Farnham's Self Emptying Buckets, in a 40 foot well. I am convinced that no other method of water raising will bear comparison with them, for ease and speed of operating. No one who appreciates the saving of labor will, after using them, feel disposed to change for pump, windlass or pully. Farnham's Self-Emptying Well Buckets belong to that class of machines that will command patronage wherever introduced.

AARON BRIGGS.

LA PRAIRIE, April 19th, 1860.

Having practically tested Farnham's Self-Emptying Buckets, by one year's use, in a well 37 feet deep, I consider them to be decidedly superior to all other methods now in use, and especially in wells of great depth or where much water is drawn for the use of stock. Most of the time there has been drawn from my well from 150 to 200 buckets per day, and the machine shows less wear by its use than is usually shown by the pully or windlass after one year's use in common house wells, being now just as serviceable and in as good repair as when new.

D. E. BELDING.

TURTLE, April 19th, 1860.

Having used Farnham's Self-Emptying Buckets during the past year in my well, depth 65 feet, I take pleasure in recommending them as superior to all other methods in use with which I am acquainted, both as it respects ease and speed of operation. One of its peculiar excellencies is that the depth of the well makes little if any difference in its ease of being operated.

HIRAM WARNER.

EMERALD GROVE, May 18th, 1860.

This certifies that I am now using two sets of Farnham's Water Raisers, and am well pleased with them. They are much better than any suction, force or chain pump.

JOHN CUMMING.

SHOPIERE, May 5th, 1860.

I have used D. P. Farnham's Revolving Well Buckets for a number of months past and find it to be a very convenient, and much the easiest method of raising water from the well that I have ever known.

JOHN H. COOPER.

I have watered all my stock the past winter, and fully concur with the above. JACOB F. DOCKSTADER.

JOHNSTOWN, April 25th, 1860.

This certifies that I have used Farnham's Water Raiser in my well (depth 30 feet) about one year, and believe it to be the best method in use for raising water from wells.

WARREN SMITH.

D. P. FARNHAM, Esq.,—Dear Sir:—I have given your device for raising water a full and fair trial, both in warm and cold weather, and after using a first class pump, two buckets and a wheel, I can truly say, for comfort and speed, your buckets are far ahead of my device within my knowledge, and I think a fair test will satisfy any one of their worthiness.

Yours, JOHN B. PEMBER.

Johnstown, May 1st, 1860.

MR. D. P. FARNHAM:—Sir:—This certifies that your Water Raiser gives perfect satisfaction. Its construction is such that it carries fresh air into the well while in operation, keeping the air and water in the well pure. I have formerly used a force pump in my well; it made the water so impure that it could not be used for cooking. The same well now affords excellent water, the buckets having changed the condition of the water, by the introduction of the pure air it carries into the well.

Jonstown, May 8th, 1860. JOSEPH FELLOWS.

Insurance against loss or damage by fire, on Dwellings, Furniture, Stores, Warehouses, Merchandise, Mills, Manufactories, and most other kinds of property, can be effected in this company upon as favorable terms as the nature of the risks and security of policy-holders will admit.

The above is the oldest company doing business in this state, and with peculiar propriety has been denominated "The Old Hartford." As an indemnity to the insured, it refers to a solid million of assets well invested; and if anything were needed to commend it to the public for liberal patronage, we might offer its history of success in business and honorable dealing with its patrons, for over half a century, as amply sufficient for the purpose.

ABBE'S PATENT PIG PEN!

Economy, Utility, Neatness, Permanency,
AND CHEAPNESS!

ITS Economy consists in the construction of the trough so that the animal cannot get his feet into or over the food from the trough in any way, and the proprietor guarantees a saving of 33⅓ per cent. in the fattening of hogs by the use of this pen.

Its Utility consists in its usefulness, from the fact that the front of the pen is so constructed that it can be used as a door for ingress or egress and thus doing away with the custom of tearing a pen to pieces whenever the occupants have to be removed.

Its Neatness, because the person feeding the animals in this pen does not come in contact with the filth that naturally accumulates in the pen, and the trough can be filled or emptied without the person feeding getting into or reaching over the side of the pen, and during the feeding the hog is kept entirely free of the feeding trough. By the use of this pen the animals can be kept as neat and clean as any other animal about the farm yard.

The Permanency and Cheapness is in the feeding trough being of cast iron, and after being once well constructed will be a permanency and fixture of the farm yard that will last as long as wood and iron will hold together.

This invention was patented in 1854, and wherever introduced has come into general use, and is spoken of by those having them on their premises, in the most favorable manner, and as accomplishing all they are specified to do by the inventor.

The undersigned having purchased the right of the above pen for Rock county, are prepare to furnish them in any quantity to farmers and others, and invite all to call and examine one on exhibition at our shop, and satisfy themselves.

All orders or letters of enquiry addressed to us at Janesville, will meet with prompt attention.

BININGER'S
OLD LONDON DOCK
GIN

A. M. BININGER & Co.
(Established 1778,)
SOLE IMPORTERS,
No. 338 BROADWAY, N. Y.

THIS delicious tonic especially designed for the use of the medical profession and the family, possesses those intrinsic medicinal properties (Tonic and Diuretic) which belong to an old and pure gin. The business of manufacturing spurious gins, and offering them as beverages, under the titles, "Aromatic," "Cordial," "Medicated," etc., has become so common, that the public are justly suspicious of nearly everything that is offered under similar forms, and the trade has thus been brought into disrepute. It has remained for our house, (established in 1778) to supply the pressing popular need, and to inaugurate a NEW ERA in the history of the trade. We trust that our established reputation—founded upon eighty years' experience—abundantly vindicates our claim to public confidence.

N. B.—A comparison of "Bininger's Old London Dock Gin" with others bearing similar names, will establish its superiority, and make other CAUTION unnecessary.

Put up in quart bottles, in cases of one and two dozen each, and sold throughout the world, by druggists, grocers, &c. Druggists and dealers supplied with wines and brandies direct from United States Bonded Warehouses. 51w1y

ABBE'S PATENT PIG PEN!

Economy, Utility, Neatness, Permanency, AND CHEAPNESS!

ITS Economy consists in the construction of the trough so that the animal cannot get his feet into or root the food from the trough in any way, and the proprietor guarantees a saving of 37½ per cent. in the fattening of hogs by the use of this pen.

Its Utility consists in its usefulness, from the fact that the front of the pen is so constructed that it can be used as a door for ingress or egress and thus doing away with the custom of tearing a pen to pieces whenever the occupants have to be removed.

Its Neatness, because the person feeding the animals in this pen does not come in contact with the filth that naturally accumulates in the pen, and the trough can be filled or emptied without the person feeding getting into or reaching over the side of the pen, and during the feeding the hog is kept entirely free of the feeding trough. By the use of this pen, the animals can be kept as neat and clean as any other animal about the farm yard.

The Permanency and Cheapness is in the feeding trough being of cast iron, and after being once well constructed will be a permanency and fixture of the farm yard that will last as long as wood and iron will hold together.

This invention was patented in 1854, and wherever introduced has come into general use, and is spoken of by those having them on their premises, in the most favorable manner, and as accomplishing all they are specified to do by the inventor.

The undersigned having purchased the right of the above pen for Rock county, are prepare to furnish them in any quantity to farmers and others, and invite all to call and examine one on exhibition at our shop, and satisfy themselves.

All orders or letters of enquiry addressed to us at Janesville, will meet with prompt attention.

BININGER'S OLD LONDON DOCK GIN

A. M. BININGER & Co.

(Established 1778.)

SOLE IMPORTERS,

No. 338 BROADWAY, N. Y.

THIS delicious tonic especially designed for the use of the medical profession and the family, possesses those intrinsic medicinal properties (Tonic and Diuretic) which belong to an old and pure gin. The business of manufacturing spurious gins, and offering them as beverages, under the titles, "Aromatic," "Cordial," "Medicated," etc., has become so common, that the public are justly suspicious of nearly everything that is offered under similar forms, and the trade has thus been brought into disrepute. It has remained for our house, (established in 1778) to supply the pressing popular need, and to inaugurate a NEW ERA in the history of the trade. We trust that our established reputation—founded upon eighty years' experience—abundantly vindicates our claim to public confidence.

N. B.—A comparison of "Bininger's Old London Dock Gin" with others bearing similar names, will establish its superiority, and make other Caution unnecessary.

Put up in quart bottles, in cases of one and two dozen each, and sold throughout the world, by druggists, grocers, &c. Druggists and dealers supplied with wines and brandies direct from United States Bonded Warehouses. 51wly
